

ANNOUNCEMENT

Aviocom Launches New Website

Thorough deliberations with staff and consultants revealed a need and desire to redesign the Aviocom website so that it would feature more up-to-date information and an appealing layout that would be easy to navigate.

As a result of some forward-thinking, we have also created a more robust architecture for the site to facilitate the addition of updates and new tools in the future.

Anyone who was familiar with our previous site will likely notice some obvious changes.

To keep our customer base informed of key happenings and new product announcements, we added the %atest News+and %Agenda+ features to our homepage. This helpful feature will ensure that you are always updated with important information and other points of interest.

Keep checking our website since this section will be constantly updated.

In order to ensure that we are always providing you with timely, relevant and updated information our customer service staff has been set-up to ensure an ongoing focus for information, posting of documents, and general clean-up of any glitches arising from the shift to our new website.

For any inquiries you can email usō . info@aviocom.nl

We at Aviocom appreciate all of your continued visits to our website.

We value your feedback and encourage you to contact us with any comments

Yours sincerely,

Roy Klockenbrink
